

"Retirer"? Is it time to pull back?

Hello Dennis,

Retirement, or "retirer", is a loaded word. It is not a single action, event, or point in time.

Planning for retirement is like building the foundation of a home. It is built brick by brick. Only after establishing a sturdy foundation can a home that is safe and secure be built.

The articles here are a part of the financial house that one must build as they head towards retirement. Mental, emotional, physical, and financial are the four walls of the foundation your house will be built on.

Retirement is built upon one day at a time, no matter if you are Gen Z, a Millennial, Gen X, Baby Boomer, etc, or even if you are in your 70s, 80s+, there are proactive steps that a financial planner will assist you with, as you work together, in building to protect and provide for your future.

Thank you,
